

What is a Minor Variance?

A minor variance is a minor change to a performance standard under the Zoning By-law, granted by the Committee of Adjustment.

What a Minor Variance Can Change

A minor variance cannot add a use that is not permitted under the Zoning By-law.

It can change the ...

- » maximum building height;
- » minimum lot area or width;
- » distance between the lot line and the building;
- » minimum landscape requirements;
- » parking and loading facilities.

What is the Committee of Adjustment?

The Committee of Adjustment is a quasi-judicial administrative tribunal appointed by City Council that operates at arm's length from the City administration. The Committee derives its jurisdiction from the Planning Act to make decisions on Minor Variances, Permission Applications and Consents to Sever. In Ottawa, the Committee consists of 15 members, divided into three geographic panels of five members each. Hearings are held the first and third Wednesday of every month, with the exception of January and December when only one meeting is held per month.

The Committee of Adjustment and its application processes are separate and distinct from other municipal development approval processes, and one or more of these processes may occur at the same time.

Understanding what a minor variance is and how it affects you is the first step to getting involved.

What is the Minor Variance Process?

1 Pre-application consultation meeting

Before filing an application, applicants should speak with a Development Information Officer (DIO) to discuss the requirements of the Zoning By-law. If it is determined that the provisions of the Zoning By-law cannot be met, applicants should contact a Planner to discuss the proposal. Applicants are also strongly encouraged to speak with their neighbours and their local community association prior to filing an application.

2 Public notification

The applicant installs a notification sign on the lands affected by the proposed minor variance. The Committee of Adjustment assigns a hearing date and notifies all property owners within 60 metres of the subject property of the application.

3 Public hearing

Several applications are considered at one public hearing. The order in which they are likely to be heard will be posted outside of the hearing room. The Committee may ask the applicant to explain the proposal and answer any questions. Then the Committee will invite other parties to speak in support of, or in opposition to, the application. Anyone wishing to receive a copy of the Committee's written decision should complete a Request for Decision Form and give it to Committee staff at the hearing.

Committee decision and appeal period

The Committee considers the Planner's comment and the evidence of public delegations and may render a decision, adjourn the application or reserve its decision. The Committee of Adjustment is authorized to grant a minor variance if all of the following criteria, established under the Planning Act, are met:

- The variance is minor
- The variance is desirable for the appropriate development or use of the property
- The general intent and purpose of the Zoning By-law is maintained
- The general intent and purpose of the Official Plan is maintained

The Committee's written decision will be issued within 10 days of the hearing. This decision may be appealed to the Local Planning Appeal Tribunal by a community member, an organization, or the property owner – anyone who participated in the process.

How to Get Involved

- Submit written comments to the Secretary-Treasurer of the Committee
- Attend the public hearing at Ben Franklin Place
- Make a presentation when the proposed consent to sever is presented for review at a public hearing. Be prepared to come with information about how you believe the proposal impacts you.
- It is important to note that the Committee is not mandated to deal with:
 - » Private disputes between neighbours
 - » Demolition and construction related activities
 - » Property standards issues
 - » Forestry and urban tree issues, including tree cutting and removal
 - » Rights to a view
 - » Capacity of municipal services
 - » Grading and drainage issues
- Only by submitting written comments or making a presentation at a public hearing at Ben Franklin Place can you make an appeal to Committee's decision to the Local Planning Appeal Tribunal.
